DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

Claims 18-37 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-26 of U.S. Patent No. 6,108,916. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the patent claims need not claim the features omitted by the instant claims. For example the locking mechanism and the switch assembly obviously need not be set forth.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 18-19, 24-26, 29-30, 32-33, 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Holst. Holst shows a circular saw in Fig 1. There is a handle that is rotatable relative to the housing denoted as 12a. Applicant claims that the handle is rotatable about the same or nearly the same axis as the motor. This feature may not be shown by Holst. However the axis of the handle is the same as the axis of the chuck. It is old to drive drill chucks directly from the motor. Thus it would have been obvious to use such a direct drive with Holst. This would align the axes of the handle and motor. The rest of the claimed features are shown Holst.
